International Jet Aviation

Mission

International Jet Aviation's mission is to provide safe transportation with quality and professionalism.

OVERVIEW

Finishing out their 40th year of service, and as the oldest and most experienced air charter company at Centennial Airport, International Jet Aviation (IJet) is highly qualified to provide their customers with the level of expertise and service that they expect. IJet's exemplary safety record is a result of its people's commitment to make safety the number one priority. A number of their employees have been with them for decades, which gives International Jet Aviation a high level of quality while still providing the personalized customer service and attention to detail that are only seen from smaller, private jet companies.

History

International Jet was founded in 1979 by William Milam and Lynn Krogh and both remain active in the company today. They developed and built International Jet Aviation into one of the largest charter operations in Denver, Colorado and the Rocky Mountain region while still keeping a small private company atmosphere. In 1989, Brian Smith joined the organization and became a partner. The combined aviation experience of these partners exceeds one hundred years and their leadership and oversight makes International Jet unique among the competition.

Built in 2003, their 37,000 sq. ft. private terminal is adjacent to Denver Centennial Airport's main runway. It offers all of the amenities you need while preparing for your air charter in Denver. They are proud of their past experience and history and welcome the opportunity to be of service to current and new customers. Let the people of International Jet put their talents to work for you!

Make-A-Wish Foundation®

As a locally owned and operated business, International Jet recognizes its responsibility to give something back to the community. One of their very special charities is the Make-A-Wish Foundation®, and they are proud to support the Foundation's functions throughout the year. In February of 2014, "Dream Chaser IV" flew to five US cities and brightened the lives of over 50 Make-A-Wish children.

"We are the company that came up with the idea to paint an airplane in bright colors of the rainbow and fly Make-A-Wish children through the Western USA. When an airplane needs new paint, we first cover it in the temporary rainbow colors to give kids a chance to see their city from inside a private jet. We just completed our Dream Chaser 5 airplane in May 2019. We have done it 5 times now with 5 airplanes while flying over 250 children in 8 different cities. This is a way to use aviation in a positive way to impact the lives of the special children of Make-A-Wish and their families."
