Cerulean General Aviation

OVERVIEW

Cerulean General Aviation is the premium service FBO at Greenville-Spartanburg International Airport (GSP) – Upstate South Carolina’s gateway to the world. GSP boasts an 11,001-foot runway, Category 3B instrument approach, and on-airport US CBP and ARFF services. Cerulean General Aviation (a member of the Air Elite Network) is a CAA Preferred FBO that offers Concierge services in a modern facility.

Line and Customer Service Staff are trained to NATA and Air Elite standards - providing excellence in safety and service. Cerulean has 137,000 sq. ft. of hangar deck space with 26,000 sq. ft. of office and shop space on its campus.

Mission

Cerulean Aviation is Upstate South Carolina’s premier customer service organization specializing in aviation ground support and functions as an oasis for aircraft operators. Their experienced team of professionals is known for their unmatched customer support and careful attention to detail.

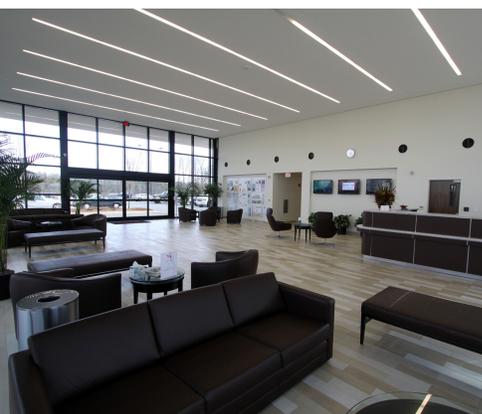

History

Cerulean General Aviation began service in January of 2017 to address market conditions for FBO customers at GSP International Airport. Cerulean's vision is to become synonymous throughout the region with excellence in aviation customer service. Beginning with just 12 based aircraft, Cerulean has quickly grown to 25 while adding two new aircraft hangars. Construction is scheduled to begin second quarter of 2020 for renovation of an existing bulk storage hangar and design is to begin around the same time for expansion of the existing FBO terminal. Airport enabling projects to support new hangar construction are also scheduled to begin in late 2020.

"We are a member of NATA for multiple reasons including their industry-leading training programs, governmental and regulatory initiatives, representation, and also because they are an important industry resource."
